

THE CARROLL CLUB.

Its First Reception and Promenade Concert Was a Success.

OBJECTS AND AIMS OF THE CLUB

Described by President Wingerter in His Opening Address, Which Was Received With Applause—The Broad and Liberal Sentiments of the Other Speakers—Refreshments and Dancing Followed the Speaking.

The first reception and promenade concert of the newly organized Carroll club took place last night at the Arion hall, on the South Side. It was both largely attended and enjoyable and the club members only wish that future functions under its auspices shall be up to the same high standard of excellence. The opening feature was a number of speeches by the officers and prominent citizens, followed by the supper and then the dancing, the latter continuing until an early hour this morning.

The first of the addresses was by Dr. G. A. Wingerter, president of the club. In a few neat sentences the doctor welcomed the guests of the club and said that he appreciated the honor that had been conferred upon him when the club elected him its first president. He pledged himself to exert his efforts for forwarding the aims of the organization, which he said are of a social order and to develop the intellectual, moral and physical qualities of the members. He proposed by wholesome amusement to do all in his power. He hoped that the club would soon be established in permanent quarters and placed on a permanent basis. The organization has been launched successfully and is here to stay. He referred to the patriotic feeling that had prompted the naming of the club after John Carroll, the first Catholic bishop in America, and a cousin of Charles Carroll, of Carrollton, the last surviving signer of the Declaration of Independence. The Catholics, he said, after God, love this America, that they discovered and have helped to save. In concluding he said that he hoped earnestly and believed that the club would receive the support that its worthy aims make it deserve. The speaker's remarks were received with applause.

Rev. Father O. H. Moya, of the cathedral, next spoke. He referred to the difficulties that had been encountered by the organizers of the club at the start, and from the fact that all had been overcome he had faith in its successful future. Every step thus far has opened up a brilliant future.

Songs were sung by Miss Emma Connolly, Miss Emma Yahn and Mrs. M. E. Whitaker, and Miss Ray recited in a pleasing manner.

Col. Thomas O'Brien made the next speech, in the course of which he said that a club such as this is something he had long looked forward to. He was glad that he had lived to see it formed. Such an organization can do a good deal of good and he was sure that it would be encouraged.

Mr. John J. Coniff spoke, and referred to the recent address of Bishop Watterston before the Columbus Y. M. C. A., the first time in the history of the country that a Catholic prelate had addressed a gathering under the auspices of the association. In this he saw the coming of a new era. This club would be run on the same broad spirit.

After the speeches supper was served in the Arion dining hall, under the direction of Mr. E. B. Carney, of the Hotel Windsor. At 10 o'clock, to the tuneful strains of the Opera House orchestra, the dancing began and continued until 1 o'clock. All in all the Carroll club and its friends enjoyed a very pleasant evening.

The success of the first Carroll function was due to the officers and committees, as follows:

Directors—G. A. Wingerter, president; E. B. Carney, Seaton Alexander, John L. Giesey, George J. Mathison, John Waterhouse, E. J. McGowan, John J. Coniff, Adam J. Yahn, Frank P. Kennedy, secretary.

McFadden, J. J. Carroll, John Waterhouse, C. Q. Rawling, George S. Feeney, Louis Zwickler, George W. Lutz, T. S. Riley, J. C. Decker, H. V. Arkle.

COUNCIL COMMITTEES

Consider Some Important Business Matters—A New Cemetery.

Last night the council committee on health had an interesting meeting, at which it was reported the garbage crematory shed was about to fall down or blow away. In this connection it was suggested that the present location of the crematory is not a good one from any point of view. Access to it is too difficult and too costly, and it is impossible to get a supply of water. Besides, its exposure to wind has caused costly damage in the past. The committee decided to look for a new location. A bill of Contractor Hamilton's for extra work in repairing the furnace was postponed till a special meeting this evening before the meeting of council. Bills for $58.15 were appropriated and recommended for payment. The real estate committee approved bills for $6.41. It will also recommend a new metal ceiling in the office of the chief of police.

The committee on petitions and remonstrances approved the applications for licenses of five persons who have recently purchased saloons, or who are about to start them.

"A Baggage Check."

"A Baggage Check," the now farce comedy by Charles E. Blaney, will be the attraction at the Grand Opera House, on Thursday, Friday and Saturday and Saturday matinee. The Philadelphia Press says:

Brimsful of sparkling humor "A Baggage Check," Charles E. Blaney's latest addition to farce-comedy, was presented for the first time in this city at the Empiro Theatre last evening. The play is a screaming satire on the troubles and complications arising from the excess of business done by a steam laundry, which affords excellent opportunity for the melodious music, dancing and bright and catchy new songs, which are introduced at every turn.

A FORMER WHEELING GIRL

Who Presides Over a Diplomatic Household in Central America—Lewis Baker's Daughter Ruth.

The New York Morning Advertiser, in an illustrated article about "The Wives and Daughters of American Diplomats," has the following concerning Miss Ruth Baker, daughter of Hon. Lewis Baker, formerly of this city, now United States minister to Nicaragua:

In the inflammable country of Nicaragua Miss Ruth Baker, the pretty daughter of Minister Baker, acts as mediator and hostess. In this territory, which includes Managua, Costa Rica and several small provinces, all of which come under the domain of the American minister, there is a deal of diplomatic work to be done, all of which Miss Baker has thus far managed nobly. As an example:

When the ship bearing her father and herself arrived in the harbor there was a revolution in progress. It had broken out that day. The ship was suspected of harboring those against the government and not a man dared to go on deck. Several sailors were killed; and not until Miss Baker, who considered the whole matter a huge joke, went on deck waving the Stars and Stripes were they allowed to land.

Next day Minister Baker went into a barber shop. A Nicaraguan sat in the chair. His face was lathered and over one side the razor had traveled. When the barber saw the American minister he took the half shaved customer by the shoulder: "Get out of the chair," he said, "and let the American minister get shaved first."

One night Miss Baker was to give a diplomatic dinner. But not a guest appeared. Late in the evening Minister Baker sallied forth to the homes of the governors and powers that be for an explanation. "We heard that the United States thought of doing so and so," replied they, gesticulating wildly. "Oh, that is false," said Minister Baker. "Your court translator has made a mistake. It is thus and so." And so peace was restored. Miss Baker is pretty enough to rule the hearts of the fiery Southerners and capture whom she pleases, but she longs to get home again to people less mercurial and more settled.

WORKS WONDERS.

Prof. Montefiore, the Famous Spiritualist Healer.

Cures Without Medicine of Any Kind. Testimonials of Those Who Have Been Cured by Him—He is Now at the McLure House Parlors.

Coming down to us from all ages, strange stories of the wonderful workings of spiritualism have stirred up the incredulities of the great minds of this and foreign countries, stories of the maimed and lame being restored to vigorous health and strength, stories of sight restored to the blind, of articulation and voice to the mute—all these phenomena and many more are credited to spiritualism, of which the greatest living exponent, Professor C. C. Montefiore, the world renowned Hebrew spiritualist, is now in the city, at the McLure house. A reporter has been told of some of the cures effected, which, if true, are little short of miraculous. The office of the professor is at the parlors of the McLure house, where he is now temporarily located. The visitor is promised to find truth stranger than fiction. The visitor will learn of cures even more remarkable than could have been previously conceived. Mrs. Allison, of Zanesville, O., testifies to the almost instantaneous cure of cancer in the breast within twelve days, which had baffled the efforts of most eminent local medical practitioners. She is fully satisfied that her life has been saved by this wonderful man. Mr. Golden, of Indianapolis, Ind., is another subject for congratulation. The cloud has been lifted from his life. Deafness of twenty years' standing has been permanently cured. Mr. Golden unqualifiedly refers to Professor Montefiore as "the greatest wonder of the age," and there is no doubt but that there will be an army of converts to his belief in a very short time.

Prof. Montefiore—I cannot find words nor money to express my gratitude in restoring my eyesight again. I have been blind for two years and until I heard your ad in the paper I have tried every professional oculist in America. I had lost my eyesight from spinal meningitis, and I have found my eyesight restored through your wonderful powers and gift. Enclosed you will find the balance of my bill due and with thanks, and hoping your powers may be lasting to do more benefit to others.

Mrs. HARRY C. JENNINGS, 327 N. Main St., Fostoria.

A DES MOINES woman who has been troubled with frequent colds, concluded to try an old remedy in a new way, and accordingly took a tablespoonful (four times the usual dose) of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy just before going to bed. The next morning she found that her cold had almost entirely disappeared. During the day she took a few doses of the remedy (one teaspoonful at a time) and at night again took a tablespoonful before going to bed, and on the following morning awoke free from all symptoms of the cold. Since then she has, on several occasions, used this remedy in like manner, with the same good results, and is much elated over her discovery of so quick a way of curing a cold. For sale by Chas. R. Dartmouth Professors

Called It Incurable.

"I had a painful ulcer on my ankle, which physicians called an old man's sore, due to the poor state of my blood. The sore spread to the size of a saucer, and I had to give up business. The surgeons at Dartmouth College would not perform an operation, claiming that my advanced age, 78 years, in itself was a barrier, and that only temporary relief could be given. I was pining over my misfortune when a friend of mine, Henry Hood's Sarsaparilla. I had taken but part of a bottle when the eruption looked more healthy and after taking 6 bottles the sore completely healed, leaving only a scar. Hood's Sarsaparilla also helped my whole system as I have not felt so well for years." JOHN S. CURRIER, West Lebanon, N. H.
